

Welcome to Au Pair Extraordinaire!

To be 'extraordinary' is to be outside the ordinary. It is to be remarkable. Unusual. Exceptional. Astonishing. Even unforgettable. Our homeschool teachers weave this spirit through everything that they do for you. We know how important this decision is for your family, your happiness and your child's future. Thus, we spend more time than any other organisation filtering our applicants, separating the diamonds from the rough.

How it works

- Register with us for free
- Tell us about your requirements and expectations- you can be as specific as you like
- Review pre-screened CV's: We will send you the CV's of suitable candidates very shortly after receiving your requirements
- Interview the candidates
- Hire!

What can I expect to pay my home-school teacher?

A home-school teacher's salary / hourly rate will depend on many factors, including his or her age, previous experience, degrees and courses completed, as well as the number of hours worked each week.

Home-school teachers usually work between 3-6 hours a day, usually in the mornings, but they are flexible and do adjust their hours according to the child's needs.

A homeschool teacher will usually earn between R8000-R20 000pm depending on their experience, the number of children and the grades they need to homeschool and of course, their qualifications.
